

PERSONAL ITEM WORKSHEET

The Bankruptcy Code requires that we make a full disclosure of all of your assets and this includes things like your clothing, kitchenware, etc. The purpose of this form is to allow us to show the court everything you have and protect everything you own. You will not lose an item simply because you list it here, but if you fail to list any property in your case we cannot protect that property and you may expose yourself to severe sanctions by the court. Please fill this form out to the best of your ability (we understand that you are not a professional appraiser) and we will review and discuss this information during our next appointment.

Please list a value for each category that includes any assets that you have that would fit within the descriptions shown. For example, if you sold everything in your kitchen (pots, pans, plates, knives, forks, etc.) at a yard sale, how much would you receive? List this amount under kitchenware (#2). Please reflect all of your household goods and furnishings and your best estimate of the fair market value of all the items in each category. Please remember that fair market value means the price you would pay for these items if you bought them again, in their current used condition, at a yard sale or pawn shop, not what you paid for the items when they were initially purchased.
